21.06.257 Special provisions for permit and application extensions.

Except as provided below, building and Land Surface Modification (LSM) permits applied for between September 1, 2007 and January 1, 2011, and building and LSM permits issued between January 1, 2006 and January 1, 2011 will be granted a one year extension to their original expiration date upon request by the applicant. The one year extension will start on the original expiration date. The extension may be applied to either the application, prior to issuance or the permit after issuance, but not to both. All electrical, plumbing and mechanical permits associated with the building or LSM permit will also be extended for the same amount of time if requested by the applicant. This extension does not apply to any issued building or LSM permit associated with a single family residence or accessory dwelling unit if the construction has already begun. Extensions will not be granted for demolition work.
